THE 2016 SEASON

Even more so than last year, the 2016 season edition of the Southgate CC Annual Review is, through circumstances, largely a purely statistical report of the completed season. With the absence of reports and difficulty in purloining scorebook details, the publication has also taken a long time to bring together. This is a particular shame because, across the club as a whole, the 2016 season could possibly rate as the most successful summer on record. The 1st XI finished a highly creditable 4th in the Premier Division of the Middlesex County Cricket League. The 2nd XI won the Division 3 title to be promoted for 2017, the 3rd XI won the 1987 League Division One title to regain entry to Division 3 of the County League, and the 4th XI came second in their 1987 League Division to gain promotion to Division 4 for 2017.

Retiring President Peter Jouning is to be congratulated on being the recipient of the Heartbeat of the Club Award for dedication to club cricket at an OSCAs ceremony at Lord's.

Our thanks go once again to our long-time sponsor and active supporter David Gakhar, managing director of Underpin & Makegood, whose continued generosity has helped maintain the club's financial standing and enabled us to meet the expenses of an ever-demanding world.

Ricky Gunn

The year ended with the Christmas social football match between the Under 30s and over 30s which the Over 30s won 4-1.

SCC Obituaries

2016 was an exceptionally sad year for the club when we lost several notable members, both former players and loyal supporters

We are sorry to report the deaths of three vice-presidents, Sandy White, Stephen Parkin and Brian Hatley.

Sandy White (88) died in March after a long illness. He had been a hockey club member who became an honorary member of the cricket club in 1976. He provided generous financial support to the club in a number of ways and was a regular supporter of the 1st XI in particular, both at home and away matches.

Stephen Parkin died aged 74 in August, also after a long illness. He had been elected a member in 1960 but, along with brother Andrew, had spent his childhood putting the scoreboard numbers up and becoming a scorer. He played his last game in 1983 but was always involved at the club in any form of building or maintenance project. He is notably remembered for building the scoreboard and erecting the sightscreens. Stephen represented the 2nd XI where he was an explosive (in every sense of the word) left-handed batsman and the most enthusiastic fielder imaginable: his clothes would always be covered in green (or worse) by the end of the opposition's innings.

News was received that vice-president and former club captain Brian Hatley died on 25th October 2016 aged 84. He had moved from Cuffley to the Dorking area many years ago but had not maintained contact with the club since then. A contemporary of Colin Cowdrey at Tonbridge School, he was an attractive left-hand bat and captained Southgate from 1968 to 1970. He scored six centuries for the 1st XI with a highest score of 116 against the Forty Club in 1961.

Former player Allan Wyatt died aged 77 in November. Allan was a regular member of the outstanding Southgate team which won the Middlesex County League in 1976 and 1977 and the National Knock-Out Cup in 1977. He was primarily an accurate medium-paced seamer, his best return being 8-32 at Finchley in 1974, but was also a useful bat and fine close catcher. Allan was also a talented footballer, only narrowly missing what would have been a unique achievement of playing at both Lord's and Wembley in national amateur sporting cup finals. [Please see Mike Smethers' tribute on pp 22-23.]

Honorary member Ron Carr, father of Adrian, and regular supporter at the ground for many years, died suddenly in February. Always a popular conversationalist, he provided thoughtful company as a spectator at club matches.

Graham Titley died in April following a long illness. Graham and his wife Janet were honorary members and regular supporters of the club on match days. Graham, a very knowledgeable sportsman, had also provided valuable support in colts training in recent years.

All these members will be very much missed and the club sends its condolences to all the families concerned.

Southgate Colts 2016

For the first time in the history of Southgate Colts, there were insufficient players this year to field an Under 11s side which rather sidestepped the problem of who would manage the side in any event. The Under 13s, however, were masterfully guided by Miles Stanton to whom, as a colts parent, the club is especially grateful.

The U13s finished 3rd out of six behind Totteridge Old Millhillians and Winchmore Hill, but were unlucky to have three games cancelled through bad weather. There were some useful performances with the bat from Harry Showell and William McLoughlin while George Hooper-Greenhill, Charlie Bates, Fred McGill and Luke Brett made steady progress. Among the bowlers Gautam Datta stood out with 11 wickets while Alex Stanton, George Hooper-Greenhill, and Fred McGill provided encouraging support.

Under 15s:

As a brief summary of the competitive season, the Under 15s didn't fare quite so well this year, failing to win any of their games which, considering the individual quality of several players came as a surprise although they shared some tight finishes. However, next year's squad looks especially strong so I am confident there will be much better news to report this time next year.

Under 15s coach Adrian Carr reports that many players impressed at times including Devin Dhanki, Shanuk Wickermaratna and Louis Valerio who showed massive promise in his first season. Tom Parsons also progressed well with his batting as well as his bowling and Sulaiman Mirza featured particularly in the field.

The Awards Supper was held in the pavilion on 30th September where an enjoyable meal was provided by the in-house caterers Pink Food Ltd.

The Club President, Mike Smethers, spoke to the assembly of colts, parents and coaches and presented the awards to the successful colts.

Under 13s.

Batting trophy: Harry Showell with 182 runs at an average of 23.25.

Bowling trophy: Gautam Datta with 11 wickets at an average of 10.18.

Endeavour/Spirit of Southgate - Callum Killeen. He didn't miss a training session, always gave 100% and, according to coach Miles Stanton, was a pleasure to coach!

Under 15s:

Batting Award: Liam Patel

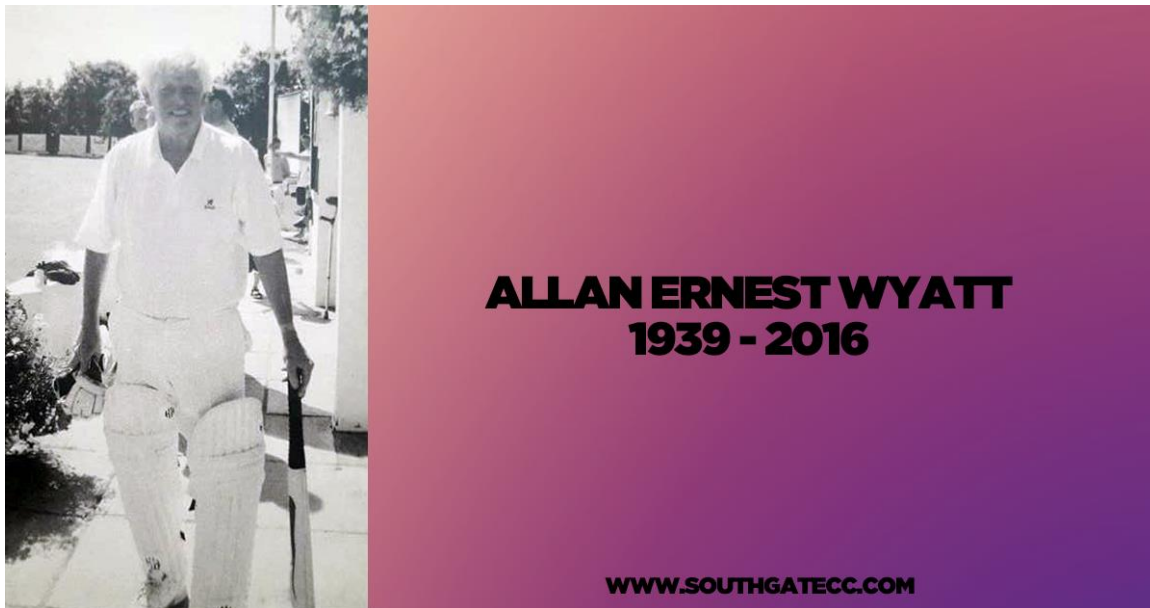

Bowling Award: Alan Babwah

Endeavour/Spirit of Southgate: Omar Khan - especially for never complaining when asked to bat at 11.

We are especially grateful to Amina Mirza for organising the Awards Supper event and she can take pride and pleasure in the fact that it was an unqualified success and enjoyed by all.

Memories of Allan Wyatt

Southgate Cricket Club is sad to report of the death of former player Allan Wyatt. Michael Smethers spoke at Allan's funeral; the following is an extract from his eulogy.

Liz has asked me to say something about Allan's sporting life. Allan loved sport – it was very much part of who he was. I shall speak mostly about his cricket, but in his younger days his primary focus was football.

During his national service in the 1950s Allan played football for Swindon Town, and afterwards was offered professional terms by Southampton and Nottingham Forest. But those were different times, and his Dad said he had to get a proper job, so he moved into top level amateur football. He was a reserve for Hendon in the 1960 Amateur Cup Final, held at Wembley in front of 60,000 people, and four years later he played in two semi-final games for Kingstonian, losing the replay in the last moments of extra time. Later in life he coached and managed strong non-league sides in North West London.

For some reason I had always assumed Allan was a resolute, no-nonsense defender, but I know now that in fact he was a skilful striker, usually on the right wing. He played for several teams in the old Isthmian League, and for his main one, Kingstonian, he scored 72 goals in 147 appearances in the 1960s, virtually one every two games. As a lifelong Arsenal supporter I am particularly impressed that Allan once scored a hat-trick against the great Bob Wilson, something the likes of Alan Gilzean or Martin Chivers could only dream of.

I first met Allan when he joined Southgate Cricket Club in North London in 1972. He played in the 1st XI until 1984, a golden period for the club, when the side was always in contention for trophies. At the peak in 1977 Southgate won the National Club Knock-out Cup, and were without doubt the best club team in the country. Allan was an integral member of the team throughout this period. He played in one final, three semi-finals and seven quarter-finals of the National Cup, won the Middlesex league twice, and the Middlesex League Cup three times.

He was 33 when he joined the club, having previously played in local, lower grade cricket. Many of his younger colleagues had tasted higher levels of the game before settling into club cricket, but Allan was the oldest and most experienced in all-round sport and life more generally. His nickname in the team was AlPal, which I think has a suitably friendly and avuncular ring to it, and you could never forget that he was the oldest of us because he had the endearing habit of addressing every one of his team mates as “young man”.

Allan was an all-rounder. Before the term became widely used he was the original “bits and pieces” player. But what bits and what pieces. I doubt if opposing teams travelled to Southgate in trepidation of playing against him, but we knew how often he played a key part in matches, and that seldom a game went by without him contributing something significant. With the bat he could play attackingly or defensively as the situation demanded. In the field, by the time he joined Southgate he was no greyhound, but he was an excellent catcher close to the wicket. And his medium-paced bowling was masterly. His run-up was innocuous – it wasn’t long, it wasn’t fast, it wasn’t aggressive, in fact it could have been a father on the beach running up to bowl to his son or daughter. But how deceptive! His action was ungainly, off the wrong foot, giving him a natural in-swing. He was very accurate, and rarely bowled a long hop or a full toss. And his deliveries seemed to leave the pitch faster than they had hit it, in modern parlance he “bowled a heavy ball”. Batsmen repeatedly found themselves tucked up by the ball darting into their ribs sooner than expected, and had no room to free themselves to swing their arms. The team had marvellous bowlers, more than we needed, but Allan nearly always bowled his full quota of overs because he was so efficient.

Every good team needs queen bees and worker bees. We had our share of queen bees, some of whom are sitting here today. Allan was one of the worker bees, laying the foundations for others to star. And, to switch metaphors, he was a major part of the cement which held the team together when the stars misfired. He was a totally reliable team member, with a rock-solid temperament. In team discussions there were plenty of people with mad-cap ideas, Allan by contrast was always perceptive and constructive. He was genuinely pleased and complimentary when others did well, and sympathetic and supportive when they had off-days. In the club more widely he was held in great respect and affection, treating everyone with courtesy and patience, regardless of age, background, playing ability or status. I am told that, characteristically, Allan made a similarly strong all-round contribution when he joined New Milton Cricket Club on moving down here in the 1980s.

The Southgate team of the late 1970s was a tight-knit group, and we have kept closely in touch. In August, when Allan was very ill, two of the team who are here today took him to the Ageas Bowl for a day’s county cricket, which Liz says he enjoyed hugely – even when he became so frail, and the prognosis was poor, his sporting ties gave him great pleasure, as did his company to those he had played alongside.

For Allan it is now fulltime, stumps – he has left the field. For us at Southgate it is so sad that we shall see him no more – a close link of over forty years’ duration has been broken. But we are all grateful for having known him, and Liz and their family, and for having enjoyed his company on and off the field. Allan gave immensely to amateur sport throughout his life, and sport helped to create the lovely person he was. The physical link may be broken, but he will live on brightly at Southgate, at New Milton, and at other clubs he played for, in peoples’ individual and collective memories.
